Our City Comment & discussion

by THOMAS D.

The Crucial
Day Dawns
in the Sewer Progress

TODAY is a day that is likely to go down in history as one of utmost importance in the progress of Glendale. This is the day that our city council meets with the Los Angeles city engineers and the board of public works to consider ways and means of building Glendale's sewer.

WE have the utmost confidence in the ultimate success of this mission. Our city council has done everything possible to try and convince the Los Angeles officials that a sewer for Glendale is nearly as important for Los Angeles as it is for us.

WE feel that they have succeeded in convincing them of this fact.

IT is undoubtedly true that if the present conditions in Glendale should be continued much longer, from a sanitary standpoint Los Angeles would be affected in a way which might prove disastrous to that city.

THE annexing of Eagle Rock to Los Angeles has aided in bringing Los Angeles to a realization that in helping us they can help themselves, for Eagle Rock, along with other surrounding territory, can be served through our sewer connection.

GLENDAL'S sister city, Burbank, is having a small family squabble.

THE opposing forces are apparently lined up for and against the city administration's law enforcement policy.

All honest endeavor to uphold the laws of the land should be supported by all citizens.

THE anti-administration forces charge that the enforcement of the traffic ordinance is not for the purpose of upholding the law but for revenue only.

The facts should come out before a settlement is reached.

UNDoubtedly a great deal of needless harm is done to communities by a policy of arresting strangers who try to pass through a city's boundaries, in order to increase the revenue of the city. We are in favor of a proper regulation of traffic but recommend that officers be instructed to use discretion in making arrests.

CITY officials can gain many friends for a community by a policy of education in preference to a policy of arrest on technical violations of traffic laws.

IF warning signs were placed at street intersections where a change in speed is necessary, instead of a speed trap, we would without doubt have less accidents and more friends.

IT IS ALLEGED PASSED
BAD CHECKS HERE

Chris Finnin, who for some time has been stopping here, was arrested Friday by the Glendale police on a charge of passing worthless checks, according to the Glendale police department. Being unable to put up $1,000 bail he was taken to the county jail. A suit case and two packages, property of Finnin are now at police headquarters.

SEWER PLAN BEFORE L. A. COUNCILMEN

Definite Action by Engineers Probable at Meeting in Big City

THEY ARE TO REPORT
Details Arranged at This Meeting to Be Passed Upon

Another important step in the securing of sewers for Glendale is being taken today by the Glendale city council. This consists of the meeting of the council members with the city engineer of Los Angeles and the board of public works of that city, at which the details of the construction of the proposed sewer main between this city and Los Angeles are being discussed.

The details that will be decided upon at this session will be arranged in proper form and submitted to the Los Angeles council on May 21, at which time, it is confidently expected, that body will vote to accept the offer of Glendale with regard to the construction of this sewer main. Glendale agrees to build this sewer main and present it to Los Angeles, upon which this city will handle the sewage of several neighborhoods between the Glendale council and board of public works will have to be held before all of the details can be "ironed out" but it is determined by those interested in this affair to have everything ready for presentation to the Los Angeles council on May 21, as scheduled.

At the present time all of the members of the city council of Los Angeles, it is understood, are favorable to the granting of Glendale's request. They see where the construction of this sewer would be of value to Los Angeles in the handling of that city of the sewage of Eagle Rock, the Atwater tract, and the San Fernando valley towns.

The Glendale council is very optimistic over the chances of its proposition being accepted and sewage facilities for Glendale being solved for all time.

HARDING ADOPTS P. T. A. PROGRAM IN PLATFORM

Declares Congress of Mothers and Ass'n. Had Written It for Him

[By Associated Press]
WASHINGTON, May 14.—President Harding has informed the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher association that its members in a program adopted at the recent Louisville convention "have nearly written my platform" so far as you have gone. He added, however, that he did not want to be regarded as committing himself in detail to all of those policies which received the unanimous support of the convention.

The program to which the president referred is set forth by Mrs. William Tilton, executive chairman of the congress, to whom Mr. Harding wrote, as providing for "obedience to law; prohibition of force with the United States; ray out against the rum fleet; maintain the present Volstead act; protective legislation for women and children in industry; entrance into some lasting organization of nations to minimize the chances of future wars; a department of education; federal aid for physical education, and drafting of a uniform divorce law."

SONG LEADERS OF COMMUNITY CALLED TO MEET TONIGHT

A combined meeting of the Community Service Song Leaders' and Recreation Leaders' clubs will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the building of the main high school gymnasium. The public is invited to attend and enjoy the informal program of games and songs which has been arranged.

STEAL RED LANTERNS FROM S. P. TRACKS

Two red lanterns, which are kept on the gates which guard the Southern Pacific tracks at Brand boulevard, were stolen Saturday evening. The person who took these was driving a large touring car, and immediately after taking the lanterns, the machine was driven rapidly toward Los Angeles, according to a report made to the local police by the tower man at that crossing.

GLENDALE K. C. BAPTIST BOOST CITY AT CONVENTION

"Tell'em" at Sacramento and Make 'Em Believe It, Too

The name of Glendale was given a big boost by the delegates to the Knights of Columbus convention which was recently held at Sacramento, which included Grand Knight Harry Girard and Past Grand Knight H. V. Henry. Peter L. Ferry and Fred Heusman, alternates, and M. J. Brennan and Charles H. Woods of the Glendale Council were also in attendance. Accompanying them were Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Ferry, Mrs. Brennan, Mrs. Girard, Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Woods.

The convention opened with a big parade on Sunday, starting from the Elks hall to the cathedral, in which over 1000 knights and five bands participated. After the parade the delegates attended a pontifical high mass at the cathedral at which Bishop Keene of the diocese of Sacramento officiated. Archbishop Hanna of the diocese of San Francisco made a very noon banquet held at the Glendale Hotel. The principal address was made by Joseph Scott of Los Angeles. Harry Girard of Glendale was called upon to render several vocal selections, which brought down the house, as usual.

The business session of the convention opened on Tuesday. That evening a grand ball was given. The convention closed on Wednesday. Frank Michels, Jr., of Sacramento, was elected state deputy for the ensuing year, and Past Grand Knight Murphy of Santa Ana was elected secretary. Other officers elected included Past Grand Knight Mahar of Oakland as state warden, Past Grand Knight Cayanaugh of Vallejo as state treasurer. Delegates to the international convention to be held at Montreal in August were Joseph Scott of Los Angeles, Judge Paul McCormick of Los Angeles, Isadore Dockweiler of Los Angeles, Joseph Ford of Los Angeles, Frank Griffiths of Fresno, Frank Silva of Fresno and Robert McWilliams of Oakland, all of whom Mr. Henry states are excellent orators and brilliant thinkers.

According to Mr. Henry the real estate men with whom he talked at Sacramento and at Stockton, where he and Mrs. Henry stopped for the P. T. A. convention, were very much amazed at the remark made by him that they were coming to this city to look things over and try to find the reason for the tremendous development.

The Knights of Columbus state convention next year will be held at Pasadena.

Fairy parts will be taken by Beatrice Smith, Catherine Doll, Betty Heusden, Dorothy Chappius, Peggy Clark, Helen Houle, Mary Ratigan, Vivian Russell, Mary Vandiver and Genevieve Gannon. C. OF C. WORK IS ANALYZED BY SECRETARIES

Director of the New Campaign Here Gives His Ideas of Field

The matters on which chambers of commerce should remain neutral was the chief subject of discussion at the meeting held by the secretaries' organization Saturday afternoon at Catalina where they were entertained by the Catalina Island company which provided hotel accommodations and meals. P. J. Hayselden was a delegate from the Glendale Chamber and spoke at some length in favor of chambers of commerce dealing wholly with business problems that affect the business life of the entire community leaving out of social affairs, which in his judgment can be better handled by commercial and civic clubs. Some of those present agreed with him, others pointed out that in certain communities the chamber furnishes the only medium for a social get-together of all elements of a town. It was the consensus of opinion that in matters of this sort the individual chamber must be its own judge.

Mr. Bayer, who is to direct the membership campaign in Glendale, declared there are so many problems that affect all the people of a community all the time that it is never necessary for a chamber to take up controversial matters that might lead to sectional conflicts or divide the membership. In this connection the secretary of the South Pasadena Chamber reported his situation where part of the membership wants that city to join Los Angeles, a part wishes to join Pasadena, and still a third element desires to maintain an independent municipality. It was agreed that all personal controversies in favor of certain individuals or corporations should be taboo.

The next problem debated was "committee," whether it is well to have standing committees to serve throughout the year or to have no committees except such as are appointed when the emergency arises and discharged when their work has been performed. It was the opinion of the majority that standing committees give more stability to a chamber.

Mr. Bayer stressed the importance of keeping the committees active by requiring them to perform the duties for which they were appointed, even though they could be more easily accomplished by the secretary. Unless a committee can be kept alive, he insisted, it becomes dead wood.

Following the session, members were entertained with rides in glass bottom boats and auto tours of the island.

HIGH GIRLS PLAY GOOD BALL AT SANTA MONICA

Miss Knight, head of the department for physical education for girls at Glendale high, was much pleased with the work done by the girls' baseball team in the game with Santa Monica on Friday afternoon. Though they did not win, they barely missed the honors of a contest, which was very creditable to both teams, the game ending with a score of 5 to 4 in favor of Santa Monica. The girls held down the opposing team with as much finesse and skill as might have been expected of a boys' team and showed that they are equal to first-class playing.

Charlotte Hawkins, who was the Glendale pitcher, and Winifred Brewer, who was catcher, were equally matched by Misses A. Hand and J. Parker, the pitcher and catcher of the Santa Monica team.

THREE INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

La Crescenta Women Are Hurt As Car Is Sidewiped on Verdugo Road

Mrs. Mary Cripps, Elizabeth Sands and Caroline Cripps, all of 175 Montrose avenue, La Crescenta, were injured in an automobile accident which occurred at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the corner of Verdugo road and Honolulu avenue. Sands, 175 Montrose avenue, who was driving the car in which the ladies were riding, stated to the Glendale police that his car was being towed. As it was turning the corner a large touring car struck the right side of the Sands car, damaging it severely and injured its occupants.

500 FANS SEE TEAM PLAY BALL

Glendale Turns Out to Watch Locals Wallop Pasadena

HARRIS HOLDS THEM
Indians Take the Fifth Straight in Valley League

The Glendale men got their bats back in working order yesterday and walloped the Pasadena entry to the tune of 6 to 2 in the fifth game of the Valley League on the home lot at Park avenue and San Fernando road. The honors of the day go to "Slim" Harris, who was doing the mound work for the locals. He hit the visitors under his thumb from start to finish and pitched no-hit, no-run ball up to the seventh frame when he took pity on them and gave them three lonely hits in the closing chapters. He struck out sixteen of the opposition, allowed but three hits, and drove out a mighty three-base walk-off. Figure him out to your own satisfaction!

"Chuck" Flanders, the keen right fielder, made the real grandstand catch of the day when he acted the part of a "Jimmy Murphy" and raced nearly to the railroad and grabbed a long drive that would have easily gone for three bases otherwise.

Fully 500 fans witnessed yesterday's contest and expressed their opinions of Glendale's own team as "going great," "improving fast" and "appearance perfect."

Manager Hilditch and his teammates extend to the Bentley Lumber company a vote of thanks for their great help in solving the seating problem to handle the large crowd on hand yesterday. They also want to thank again the business men and the city council of Glendale for their great help in the purchase of new uniforms that made possible the phrase "appearance perfect."

Next Sunday the Glendale team travels to Lankershim to take on the entry of that city in the sixth league contest.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES LIABILITY BILLS ARE PASSED

R. D. White Reports on Work of Council of Education

Richardson D. White on Saturday attended a meeting of the Council of Education of the California Teachers' Association, Southern Section, held in Los Angeles. Glendale has three representatives on this council, the other two being George Lockwood, representing the faculty of Glendale High, and Miss Gladys Sharpe, of the elementary teachers' group. Mr. White representing the supervisors' group.

Senate Bill No. 142, and Assembly Bill No. 142, companion bills relating to the liability of school trustees for injuries to pupils, and designed to relieve trustees from such liability and place the burden on the school district, are said to have been passed, he reported. One signature received the signature of Governor Richardson.

As chairman of the committee on legislation he made an interesting report to the effect that the governor's budget for schools would go through in its original form except for the addition of approximately $420,000 to be expended for teachers' colleges and state text book funds.

The report also stated that Senate Bill No. 127 relating to the teachers' retirement salary law, was reported out of the senate committee with the recommendation "Do Pass."

Assembly Bill No. 534 relating to teachers' tenure of office was decisively defeated in the house and there is no probability that it will again come up this session.

Senate Bill No. 123 relating to kindergarten was killed in the assembly committee on education.

Assembly Bill No. 558 relating to the organization of county school districts and known as "The County Unit Bill," appears to have been decisively defeated in the senate.

Senate Bill No. 417 relating to religious instruction in the public schools was defeated once, then called up again for reconsideration and was again defeated last Thursday.

COMMUNITY SING TO BE BIG EVENT

Program Calls for Finest Concert Ever Held Here

SO. CAL. GLEE HERE
Meeting Open to General Public Under Service Without Charge

The community sing program to be put on by community Service at the high school tomorrow night, May 15, at 8 o'clock promises to be one of the finest ever presented in Glendale.

One of the most popular singing organizations of the southwest is to be heard in concert as the main feature of the program—the Men's Glee club of the University of Southern California, under the direction of Hal Cogswell.

The program they will offer is full of variety, color and contrast. While music predominates, other interesting specialties are introduced, rounding out a program full of merit and one that should appeal to the most exacting listener.

Great care is exercised in choosing the club members. Out of the many who try out only twenty are selected and they truly represent the best voices in the university. After the personnel has been determined upon, many months of careful preparation are necessary before they are ready to appear in public.

This season the club is under the supervision and management of the college of music of the university, which insures a standard of work in keeping with the college ideals.

In addition to the Glee club, J. A. Lewis, well known and popular song leader of Los Angeles, will be here to direct community singing.

Ben E. Pearson, chairman of the Los Angeles Music Week committee, will be present and bring greetings from that organization to the people of Glendale.

The meeting is open to the general public and all music lovers are urged to take advantage of this splendid opportunity. There will be no admission charge but a silver offering will be taken up to defray expenses of the Glee club.

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—A. L. Manning, chief of the criminal investigation department of the Los Angeles county sheriff's office, was suspended by Sheriff W. I. Traeger today on charge of attempting to bribe Jailer Mark Bailey to destroy evidence alleged to incriminate Herbert Wilson, convicted murderer and jailbreaker.

Nazarene Church Hears Rev. Robert Pierce on Sunday

Rev. Robert Pierce of Los Angeles preached at both services at the Nazarene Church on Sunday. In the afternoon the sermon was about "Mother," and at night Rev. Pierce's sermon was on the subject of a revival. The main thought brought out by him was that to have a revival the church must pay the price, spend much time in prayer and intercession to God. The services still continue to increase in interest and attendance. The prayer meeting Tuesday will be held at the church, and on Friday the members will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. West, 1815 South Brand boulevard. Everybody come!

IT TAKES MONEY TO DO IT

By N. D. GARVER

Obeys the call of the open road!
So these reporters write;
But never mention the money—
The thing of power and might.

Now how's a fellow goin' to fish
If he hasn't got the DOUGH
To buy his rods and bait and line
And a FORD in which to go?

It's easy enough to say in print
Just what a fellow should do,
And I know we'd like to do it
If we had the MONEY to pull us thru.

I like to hunt, I like to fish,
I like to do those things,
But how's a fellow to do it
WITHOUT the DOLLAR that rings?

It was a very jolly trip and after the truck left them hikes to the falls and beyond were made by ambitious members, desirous of securing credits enough to entitle them to the club pin, which calls for 14 miles of hiking. Some made 8 miles.

Following a picnic lunch they played baseball and other games and by 4 o'clock were ready for the return on the truck which met them at the canyon mouth.

PRINTERS EARN MANY MILLIONS IN MARCH

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 14.—Total earnings of union printers in the United States and Canada for a month ending in March were in excess of $10,820,410, according to figures given out at headquarters of the International Typographical Union here. More than $14,000,000 has been raised in the last sixteen months to carry on the struggle for the 44-hour week in commercial printing shops, officials of the union said.

According to the union's statistics, 3,523 members are still drawing strike benefits after 254 names were taken from the benefit list in March. Twenty-nine shops were unionized in the month. Books of the international show that the strike fund now contains $1,120,000 more than it did when the 44-hour strike was called. United States treasury certificates in the sum of $301,000 were purchased for the fund in addition to $200,000 of Canadian municipal bonds. Wage increases were granted to printers in twenty-two cities, which fact, taken with the unusually large sum of total earnings in the trade, indicates an extraordinary degree of prosperity in the industry.

PENDROY'S PROVE POTENT BOOSTERS FOR GLENDALE'S PROGRESS

ONE YEAR OF FORCEFUL PERSONALITY OF THE CITY'S FIRST BIG STORE PROPRIETORS POINTS TO VALUE OF BREADTH OF IDEAS IN THE COMMUNITY

Shows Radiation of Influence of Good Merchandising Extends Beyond the Confines of Counter and Cashier, to the Point Where Community Service Becomes the First Essential of Good Business

By GERTRUDE GIBBS

For real ardent boosters of Glendale, one needs to go to those who are termed "newcomers" as distinguished from the pioneers who were here when our city was a vast strawberry field, or perhaps barley fields or chaparral and cactus.

Such a booster is Earle C. Pendroy, who is this week celebrating the first anniversary of the establishment of the handsome dry goods store of which Glendale is so proud, and which has set the pace for the other stores that will enable the city to cater to the exclusive, critical

FURNITURE? GO TO PENDROY'S 3RD FLOOR

Large Assortment for Dining Room, Bedroom and Living Room

Surprise at the size and assortment of stock carried by the furniture department at Pendroy's is often expressed by the customer upon the first visit.

This department offers a variety of styles in dining rooms, bedroom and living room sets. For the dining room, the Queen Anne, Colonial or Mission furniture is dividing the popular choice. These sets come in dark walnut, oak and other favorite materials. The Windsor gate-legged table, seating six, people is being offered as a specialty.

The ivory sets still claim the popular demand for the bed room. Pendroy's is making a special feature of the ivory four-poster, and also offers several styles in the bow-foot bed.

Tufted velvet living room sets, composed of davenport and chairs, are in great demand. These are offered in delightful and restful shades, and are particularly inviting under the reflections from floor lamps with vari-colored shades.

Pendroy's furniture department also offers a large variety of linoleum of high quality. They also conduct a window shade department. Whittall rugs of unique design and heavy mat, and art draperies are regularly carried in stock. For the front porch or shaded nook, there are the canvas swings which are assets to any home, especially during the summer time.

On the third floor, the luggage department also finds space. Here, the wardrobe trunk, leather goods, including bags and suitcases, and other traveling conveniences, are on display. The fiber trunk is one of the most popular buys at the present time.

In addition to these departments, the general offices of the firm are located on the third floor. Ten employees make up the office force of the store.

HOUSEHOLD NEEDS ALL FOUND IN BASEMENT

Pendroy's Offers Unusual Service Through Purchasing Power

The housewife who has become acquainted with the basement at Pendroy's will testify that she could not possibly get along without it. It is claimed by the management of the basement, that there is not an article in the line of household furnishings which cannot be supplied the customer.

Wm. Baker, who is the buyer for the household department, as well as for rugs, draperies and furniture, has very material influence as a buyer, stated John Swearingin, general superintendent of buying. He made the assertion that Mr. Baker has such connections that he is enabled to supply customers with any special item not found in their regular stock in a day's time.

"Many people do not know of the existence of our very completely equipped household furnishings department in the basement," stated Mr. Swearingin. "Every housewife will find it worth her while to visit this department, which so completely covers the needs of the dining room and kitchen."

Dinnerware, kitchen utensils, refrigerators, ice cream freezers, everything to completely equip the household is there. Besides these necessities, there is a toy department which would delight the heart of any child. Beautiful dolls, mechanical toys and novelties are offered here to make the play days happy ones.

With a background of the middle west and an experience in the dry goods business which dates back to his boyhood when he was in and out of the chain of eight stores operated by his uncle, Mr. Rorabaugh, under the business caption of the Rorabaugh Syndicate of Kansas, in which Mr. Pendroy's father was also interested, he had acquired a shrewd judgment for selecting business positions.

His choice of Glendale when he and Mrs. Pendroy elected to come to California, and his large investments here, were the best of time on the business future of Glendale. A keen business man, thoroughly grounded in the line of merchandising he has chosen, is not apt to make a mistake in picking out a field which promises success, or in choosing a location after the field has been selected.

In this instance his judgment, reinforced by that of Mrs. Pendroy, who has had an independent business experience equal to his own, has not proved at fault. Because the town has demonstrated his acumen and more than realized his expectations, he and Mrs. Pendroy are celebrating in a commercial and in other ways, the success of the past year.

Mr. Pendroy no longer feels like a newcomer and does not want to be classed as one. From the start he identified himself with the business and civic interests of Glendale, and took an intelligent active part in the work of the chamber of commerce, Merchants' Credit association, and other organizations with which he became affiliated. He also invested in both residence and business property and now plans to improve one of his purchases in the early fall with a home for himself and Mrs. Pendroy, both having satisfied themselves that they wish to be real Glendaleans, identified with the social as well as the business interests of the community.

Besides these investments, he has spent considerable money on the enlargement of his store in which the floor space devoted to selling has been increased 40 per cent since he opened in May, 1922. This has been secured in part by the building of a mezzanine floor to accommodate the art department and a balcony for office and other purposes, also the utilization of the basement for the fine household furnishings department, where china, glassware, utensils, baskets, etc., are to be found in large and attractive stocks under the management of William Baker, who is also in charge of carpets, rugs, draperies, furniture, etc., of the most up-to-date models and designs on the third floor.

The beauty parlor on the second floor of which Mrs. Beuna Gray is in charge, is another feature added since the store opened its doors. When Mr. Pendroy was pressed for some of the basic reasons for his satisfaction over his business career in Glendale, he smiled and said, "An audit of our books shows that our actual sales during the 12 months were 25 per cent more than the goal we set for ourselves when we established the business, and that in a city that was new to us, and in the face of inexperience with Southern California, its needs, and the tastes of the clientele we were catering to."

"During the second year, which we are starting with practically twice as large a stock, with the business established in public confidence, and with a better knowledge of Glendale and its requirements, we expect to do at least a third more business than in the year that has passed."

"We have reached a point where the financial end of the business is sufficient to absorb all my time and energies, but I have been fortunate in securing within the past six weeks R. H. Smith of Pasadena, who will act as my assistant and general superintendent of the store, relieving me of many of the personal details for which I had to be responsible the past year."

"As to the future of Glendale, I could not be other than optimistic. For Southern California I can see no possibility of a 'slump.' There may come an inactive period during the hot weather, but there will be no 'buyers' strike' in which purchasing will cease. So long as population and money flow into Southern California, the rest of the world can have the worst of depressions and we will still have good times."

"The increase in bank deposits is a concrete evidence of the firm foundation of our prosperity; also the fact that more and more industries are being located here, making it a most attractive number."

VARIETY OFFERED ON MAIN FLOOR AT PENDROY'S

Constitutes Panacea for Woes of Shoppers in Search of Things Different

Upon entering Pendroy's from Brand boulevard, the sight of attractively arranged stock in show cases, on counters and on tables meets the critical buyer's eye. The psychology of proper display at once takes effect upon the shopper, and often a decision is made as to choice of merchandise upon the mere suggestion offered through display.

To the left of the entrance will be found the yard good department which occupies the first section. Here will be found a large line of all silks in greatest demand—those of the King Tut design, the newest crepes, both of light and heavy weights in all the popular summer shades—both heavy and wash satins, and lingerie silks—where the most fastidious tastes will find satisfaction.

Then come the wash goods, ginghams in pleasing array, white goods, tissues and organdies, voiles and ratines, both in white, pastel shades, and combination color designs. These form a challenge to the designer who is in search of appropriate material with which to carry out creative ability.

A complete line of linens will be found toward the back of the store, table linens, napkins, scarfs, squares, doilies and art linens. Next to the linens, the shopper will find bed sheets, pillow cases and bedspreads, of different qualities and makes.

To the right of the doorway, a complete line of sundries, including perfumes, powders, creams and other toilet articles, forms the drug sundries department. This department is operated in an up-to-date manner, and all of the latest improved toilet manufactures are included in the stock.

Then follows the glove and hosiery department, deserving special mention for the quality and assortment to be found there. Fine sheer hosiery, in various shades, and in all sizes, the lighter shades and voiles and organdies are all found among this array of white splendor.

Gloves—the silk sports gauntlet, the long silk, 16-button, in durable heavy silk; chamoisettes, both gauntlet and long, of superior style and quality; and the kid glove, always correct and effective, will be found in just the right style and color.

Underwear, with the Munsing wear a special feature, occupies the space next to the gloves and hosiery. Parasols and umbrellas, also, in the latest shades and styles, will be found at the adjoining counter.

Then there is the shoe department, with its store of attractive, and above all, comfy, looking shoes. The popular sports models, making a special feature of the combinations, black and grey, beige and brown, and beige and black. The King Tut sandal is also to be found and will doubtless continue to be in demand. These are only some of the items to be included on the shoe list, where a complete line of women's and children's shoes is carried.

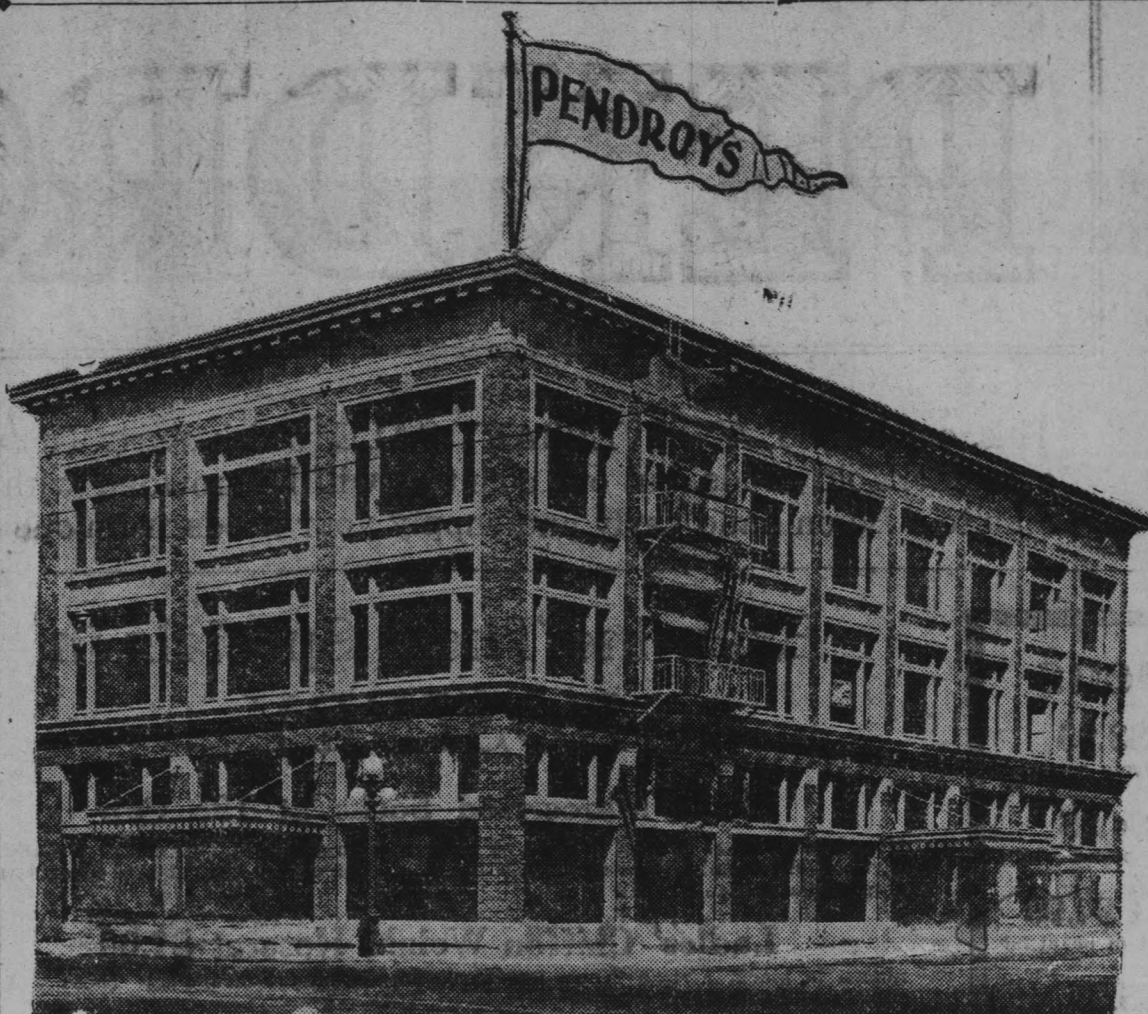

Occupying a central position, directly opposite the entrance, are the trimmings of many descriptions, embroideries and jewelry claim the attention. The latest in belts, bracelets and novelties are included in this stock, over which the eye of the feminine shopper lingers in delight.

Last, but far from least, comes the notion counter, with its countless little necessities, including everything from thread to button hooks. Patterns will also be found in this department, providing an index to all the latest modes and materials. Across the aisle, are the ever useful baby bags, vanity cases, and coin purses, in various qualities and shapes, all of which are designed to delight the heart of some proud owner.

This then, in brief, forms the main floor of Pendroy's, an establishment that has served Glendale for one year, and is making special offers because of the success during the past, and the brighter prospects for the future in retaining the favor and patronage of Glendale people.

LINDSAY STUDIO SPRING RECITAL SET FOR JUNE 1

Miss Edith Lindsay and her mother, Mrs. M. Lindsay, spent the week-end at the Palace hotel in San Francisco, returning to their studio on Monday morning, where extensive preparations are being made for their annual spring recital to be held June 1, at Gamut theater, 1044 South Hope street, Los Angeles. Many prominent young people of Glendale will participate, among them Alice Ayars, Gwendolyn Shattuck, Edna Mae Paul, Lois Nardain, Sarah Barbara Paul, Meta Chandler, and many others in most attractive numbers.

WOMAN'S KINGDOM ON PENDROY'S 2ND FLOOR

Department Illustrates the Feminine Tastes When Choicely Expressed

The second floor at Pendroy's is of special and exclusive interest to the feminine shopper. Here will be found an efficient beauty parlor service, in addition to the ready-to-wear.

Suits and dresses, of "different" styles in high quality materials range in all sizes and fashionable shades and patterns. Both wash dresses and silk invite the inspection of the discriminating shopper.

With the near approach of June, the thought of weddings and graduation time, naturally lends interest to the purchase of white dresses. Here will be found filmy creations, embodying the straight lines and neat appearance that is half the success of the white dress. Crepe de chine, georgette, and voiles and organdies are all found among this array of white splendor.

Dainty lingerie, made up in silks and batistes, are attractively displayed. A line of high grade corsets is also included in the underwear department.

First class hair waving, shampooing, and manicuring is offered at the beauty parlor. This department enjoys a steady patronage and has kept pace in its growth with other departments of the store.

Mrs. Pendroy herself is buyer for the second floor and the tastefulness and charm to be found in all lines of goods here displayed is directly responsible to her choice.

COLLEGE WOMEN MEET AT HOME OF MRS. BARKER

The College Women's Club of Glendale held an enthusiastic meeting and garden tea Saturday at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Barker on South Glendale avenue. It was voted to affiliate the local club with the American Association of University Women.

The officers elected for the next year were: Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, president; Mrs. Paul Webb, first vice-president; Mrs. Helen Moir, secretary; Mrs. Julian Hayward, treasurer. Several new members were elected, which brings the club membership to a total of ninety.

Mrs. Ferguson announced that the next meeting, which will close the club year, will be held the second Saturday in June and will be in the form of a luncheon, marked by a formal installation of officers. Henry Biederman of the Emerson School of Expression was then introduced and gave a most delightful reading of the second act of Kennedy's "Servant in the House." Following the reading the members adjourned to the garden, where refreshments of tea and cake were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Protestant Idea of the Madonna Is Rev. Edmonds' Topic

"The Protestant Madonna" was the sermon theme of Rev. W. E. Edmonds at the Glendale Presbyterian church yesterday morning. He spoke in part as follows:

The Protestant Madonna is not the Virgin Mary, but one's own mother and celebrating Mother's day we are strengthening the grip of Christianity in the world. Since we have ceased to talk about the weakness of womanhood it is time to commemorate her strong, heroic, divine qualities. The cross is also a mother's emblem. Whatever of beauty and blessing is in the life of the mother is all due to the Christ who the cross.

Paul tells us that Timothy's faith was made possible by a mother's example. The home was in Lystra, a city with an unbelieving father, a city steeped in idol worship, Timothy's mother held to the faith of her fathers. What a task for a mother. What a power her example had over her boy. In spite of the sarcastic sneers of her husband, the stinging cuts of her social set, and the heathenish atmosphere of the whole city she remained true to her faith.

Mothers of America, your children's future depends on you. If you live the outstanding Christian life your children will follow you. Young men and young women, remember that mother of yours to whom Timothy's mother held to the faith of her fathers.

Timothy's faith was made by a mother's instruction. No instructor of holy truth can take the place of a mother. Timothy's faith was the same brand as his mother's. Today's youth would be considered old-fashioned. God give us more such today. This mother was doing more for the world than the emperor of Rome. Moulding Christian character she was kindling a fire of faith which should never die.

O mothers of men, this is the day when religious instruction is so sorely needed. If our mothers fail, God have mercy on our country.

Timothy's faith was made by a mother's love, which is nearest to the love of God. Mother love has been the genius of poetry and music and eloquence, yet these fail to tell its source if it be not ascribed to God in Christ Jesus. Love is of God, for God loves, and love is not God, for God is a person and love is an attribute. The very thing which makes a mother what she is of God and apart from God, woman becomes a mere chattel. Young man, young woman, that love of God manifest through your mother is a great anchor in face of weakness and temptation. It will change weakness into a strong Christian character growing ever stronger as the years go by.

Protestant Idea of the Madonna Is Rev. Edmonds' Topic

"The Protestant Madonna" was the sermon theme of Rev. W. E. Edmonds at the Glendale Presbyterian church yesterday morning. He spoke in part as follows:

The Protestant Madonna is not the Virgin Mary, but one's own mother and celebrating Mother's day we are strengthening the grip of Christianity in the world. Since we have ceased to talk about the weakness of womanhood it is time to commemorate her strong, heroic, divine qualities. The cross is also a mother's emblem. LIMIT EXPENSE ACCOUNTS
BOISE, IDAHO.—No state official in Idaho has been in expense while traveling for the state government for more than $5 a day, stage and railroad fare excluded, according to notices sent out to state employees and officials by E. G. Gallet, state auditor. The ruling was made in a law enacted by the 1923 legislature and became effective May 10.

A hot sport from the southwest was visiting a friend in a thriving little city. It was pretty dull showing a hot sport around. They inspected the jail, the public square, and the outboard factory. Many old familiar places, however, were closed and closed for keeps. There was little doing. Finally the host suggested that they might drive out and view the waterworks.

"Thank you," said the hot sport. "I'll take your word for it that you have waterworks. You needn't show 'em to me."

DOG ORDINANCE ENFORCEMENT IS SURPRISE

Mrs. Teitworth Finds Her Pet Seized When Accompanying Her

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Teitworth of 708 East Lomita, are greatly disturbed over being among the first to experience the drastic effects of the new dog regulation although in their case enforcement was suspended after protest.

They have been residents of this city for about two years. Mr. Teitworth conducted a garage at the corner of Colorado and Glendale avenues. They have been planning to buy a home here but now they are a little uncertain because of their love for their young shepherd dog.

Not posted as to the dog ordinance and lulled into security by the number of dogs running loose in the streets, Friday, Mrs. Teitworth visited her husband at his garage, the dog accompanying her. A man in an auto stopped his machine, leaped out, and seized her dog and began dragging it toward the auto. Imagining it to be a case of dog stealing she protested and the man finally explained he was a city officer and supposed the dog to be running at large without its owner's knowledge.

He finally released the animal advising her that she must appear before Judge Lowe Monday morning at 10 o'clock to answer for her failure to keep the dog confined.

Mrs. Teitworth feels the ordinance is too extreme in its authority to seize dogs attending their masters and mistresses and behaving in an inoffensive manner, though she admits under the literal interpretation of the order the officer was merely following out his instructions. She and her husband question whether they want to live in a town where their dog is taboo. They will probably not buy a home here right away.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Henry of Glendale returned Saturday from the northern part of the state, where they had been attending the Knights of Columbus convention at Sacramento and the P. T. A. convention at Stockton.

"NE'ER DO WELL" OPENS TUESDAY AT THE T. D. & L.

Tom Meighan a football coach! He is seen in such a role in his latest Paramount starring vehicle, "The Ne'er-Do-Well," which comes to the Glendale Theatre for three days, opening on May 5. At the opening of this picture, Mr. Meighan is on the side lines at a football game between two of the foremost colleges in the country. A victory for his eleven is a signal for wild excitement. Pandemonium breaks loose, and Meighan and his men are carried from the field on willing shoulders.

That night, the usual celebration in honor of victory is held in one of the cafes in town, and it is here that Mr. Meighan, in the role of Kirk Anthony, meets a certain strange man, and thereby hangs a tale. As a result of this meeting Kirk finds himself stranded in Panama without a cent. It is then that other things begin to happen and in rapid succession.

PHILADELPHIA'S PUBLIC BEACH

Philadelphia has just completed and thrown open to the public a municipal bathing beach, probably the largest in the country. The two bath houses in League Island park have a capacity of 6,000. Provision is made for 3500 men and 2500 women. The dimensions of each building are 351 by 22 feet.

Keep Smiling Through Suggests Chamber of Commerce President

To the Merchants of Glendale: Glendale merchants are noted for the courteous treatment they give their customers. How would you like to have this reputation spread over California?

Fine! It would be the best little business getter we could have.

We can do it—it is possible. Here's the secret! Let's keep reminding ourselves of these simple maxims:

1.—When a customer comes in and we can't wait on him immediately, let's acknowledge his presence, saying, "I'll be with you in just a moment, sir!"

2.—Keep smiling! It's the best salesman you have.

3.—Keep the idea, "The customer is always right!" If, however, after a very tactful interview, you know that the customer is wrong, handle it very diplomatically. One knocker does more harm than two boosters can do good.

4.—In those busy days we sometimes forget to thank the person buying from us—or we merely say "Thanks!"

Let's give them the good old-fashioned "I Thank You!" and look them in the eye and mean it!

Yours for a more prosperous Glendale,

COMMUNITY LOYALTY COMMITTEE OF THE GLENDALE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, J. C. SMITH, Chairman.

MRS. CAMPBELL RETURNS FROM CONVENTION

Declares It Is One of the Best She Ever Attended

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, returned Saturday from the state convention of the federation of women's clubs held at Eureka, and a visit with relatives in the northern part of the state. From the standpoint of the spirit of the convention and the educational features, Mrs. Campbell states that the meeting was one of the best she had ever attended.

Let's give them the good old-fashioned "I Thank You!" and look them in the eye and mean it!

ing the country a productive instead of an importing center."

Mr. Pendroy also voiced his pleasure in the fact that many of the men and women who help him as heads of departments and clerks in the establishment of the store are still with him, notably John Swearingen, general merchandise manager and head of the domestic department; Mrs. R. G. Van Court, head of the department devoted to ribbons, trimmings and laces; V. J. Hyink, assistant manager of general merchandise; Mrs. Elsie Williams, in the department for women's gowns and wraps; Mrs. Effie Schaelette, head of the department for drugs and sundries; G. Hall Damon of the silk yardage department; Miss Marie Clemm, saleswoman; Miss Helen Kapus, stenographer and office assistant; J. T. Knudson, basement salesman; W. A. Baker, head of household furnishings; Miss Winona McGuire, saleswoman; Miss Dora Kroll, office assistant.

In this as in all businesses, changes and adjustments have been necessary, but the present personnel of the store under the efficient heads of departments is of a high character. Besides its business contacts, it has been organized as Pendroy's Progressive association for social purposes with a membership which started with 45 and now numbers about 60. The second Monday evening in each month it meets for a dance, a lecture, a card party or other diversion with refreshments to follow, and this serves to make the work force a unit in boosting for the welfare of the store, the more so because Mr. and Mrs. Pendroy encourage and share these gaieties.

Mr. Pendroy was disposed to give much credit for the success achieved to Mrs. Pendroy, who has backed him at every step, not only with encouragement and hard work, but with her excellent judgment based on an experience in the dry goods business second only to his own.

The biggest department of the store is probably the women's department on the second floor which is controlled by Mrs. Pendroy. Not only is she its buyer, but she personally oversees all its sections and is its constant inspiration.

Others who are giving themselves to the upbuilding of trade as heads of departments are F. H. Jagley, of the silk department; Mrs. Nellie Black, who presides over notions; Z. P. Morse of the shoe section; Freda Trout of the art department.

WHITE SHRINE OF JERUSALEM HOLDS STRAWBERRY FETE

The strawberry festival given by the White Shrine of Jerusalem for the benefit of the Masonic building fund, was held at the Masonic temple instead of being a lawn fete on the home grounds of Frank Bourne, Saturday evening. It proved a very pleasant social affair, though quite an informal one with a brief musical program supplied by Mrs. Porter Custer, who contributed piano numbers, and Mrs. Wenzel and D. Ripley Jackson who sang. This is the opening gun in the campaign to raise money for the building which is to grace the site lot secured for the new home of Masonic orders on Central avenue, and shows that the newer organizations are not lacking in enterprise and pep.

The Shrine club is also at work upon a project for raising temple funds.

BRILLIANT STARS IN CHAUTAUQUA NUMBERS

Saturday's and Sunday's Program Fully Up to High Standard Set

Saturday night's offering at the Chautauqua was a double bill, each number of which was a whole show in itself. Alice Louise Shrode, the gifted young artist, gave the opening performance. She is a whistler of rare charm and the trills, cadenzas and beautiful sound combinations flow from her lips in marvelous harmony. As a reader, also, Miss Shrode is delightfully natural in the varied characters she assumes.

Dr. Ng Poon Chew, a Chinese scholar, orator and patriot, followed Miss Shrode, and for more than an hour held his hearers spellbound as he rapidly sketched China's history for 5000 years in the past and spoke hopefully of the future of his great nation, a third larger than the United States and with a population of 450,000,000. He told of many revolutionary changes in this venerable land that have been wrought in the past few years, all of which have come from contact with the outside world and have been directly from the influence of Christian missionaries, who, the speaker said, have done more for the enlightenment and moral uplift of his people than any other agency. He spoke of the discarding of the queue in recent years as an innovation that would have been impossible 60 years ago. And, by the way, he added that the wearing of the queue was not aged, as so many people thought, but was a degradation imposed upon the Chinese in 1644, when the Manchus conquered the nation.

Dr. Chew lauded America for her altruistic attitude in dealing with his country in direct contrast with the insolent, rapacious acts of all other nations. He spoke most hopefully of China's future as an enlightened republic but said we should not be impatient as such reforms took many years especially with a slow-moving people like the Chinese.

Dr. Chew is a fine appearing gentleman, more like a dark-skinned American than a typical Chinese. His vocabulary is quite extensive, his English absolutely correct, enunciation clear and his lecture sparkled with rare bits of humor.

Sunday afternoon's double program was made up of Mixer's quartet—violinist, clarinetist, cellist and pianist, and James Hamilton, talented American tenor. The quartet played real music, jazz being eliminated entirely, and the program given was one of rare merit. Mr. Hamilton's singing was a delight and a revelation of harmony. His voice is indescribably beautiful and so clear and sweet that it was heard, even in the softest notes, in every nook and corner of the big tent. His pleasing personality added much to the enjoyment of his hearers.

Tonight, at 8 o'clock, Tom Skelly, world famous traveler, orator and ex-service man, will be the super attraction of Chautauqua week.

SULLIVANS MARK TWINS' BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Sullivan of 711 South Central avenue, combined the celebration of Mother's Day and that of the birthday anniversary of their twin sons, Albert and Robert Sullivan, with a dancing party at their home Saturday night, at which a group of thirty young people were the guests.

The spacious rooms were decorated with roses and Spanish broom. During the evening Miss Margaret Hauber entertained with a piano solo and R. E. Evans rendered several vocal selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Francis Gordon. At the close of an enjoyable evening refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Those present included Miss Grace Crampin, Miss Louise Ayala, Miss Ruth Ryan, Miss Naomi Eastman, Miss Marguerite Hauber, Miss Isabelle Yates, Miss Lillian George, Miss Lillian Schick, Miss Corinne Orr, Louis Winslow, Fred Bartlett, Glenn Wilson, William Herman, Francis Sullivan, Robert W. Sullivan.

"SOULS FOR SALE" MAKES BIG HIT AT THE GLENDALE

Rupert Hughes has undoubtedly made his biggest picture out of the screen version of his novel of life in the motion picture colony in Hollywood, "Souls for Sale." This Goldwyn picture will be the attraction for three days more at the Glendale theatre. It is an absorbing tale of everyday, human life made picturesque through its depiction of motion picture people, their activities and relationships.

Mr. Hughes has long been one of the country's most popular and most human novelists, and has excelled in printed form, on the stage and on the screen—in revealing life as it is lived by those with whom we come in daily contact. His attitude toward life, and toward his characters—that of the sympathetic, though often amused onlooker who wants to make us both love and understand them—has not been abandoned in the present photoplay. There are a number of incidents in "Souls for Sale" which are of a more or less melodramatic nature, but Mr. Hughes has kept these entirely credible and an integral part of his story.

"Souls for Sale," which attracted unusual attention when it was published serially in the Red Book magazine and later in book form by Harper Brothers, has been one of the best sellers of the year. Mr. Hughes himself prepared the continuity for his screen version of the story, selected the cast in association with Goldwyn officials, directed, edited, cut and titled it.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF BURBANK AND ITS ENVIRONS

EXCELLENT CONCERT WILL BE GIVEN TO CLOSE MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST ON MAY 25

Violin, Piano and Vocal Soloists Will Present Musical of First Rank to John Muir School Pupils and Their Adult Friends

A week from Friday one of the finest free concerts ever given in Burbank will be staged at the Edison building, when local artists and Los Angeles talent will give a concert. This will be open to every one in Burbank, and will mark the close of the first music memory contest ever conducted in the history of the town.

Prizes are to be awarded at this time to the high scoring children who have been studying the music appreciation course of the past six weeks.

Mrs. Zefer Sparrow, Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Vern Isom, three popular musicians of Burbank, will furnish the local music.

Clyde Morris Gates, Charles King and Nicholas Devereux of the Southern California Music company, will furnish the first part of the recital.

These three were obtained through the courtesy of the Burbank music shop, which booked the artists for the school children and their adult friends.

Clyde Morris Gates, a young boy violin genius, will begin the program with a group of three numbers: (a) "Zigeunerweisen," (b) "Ave Maria" (Schubert) and (c) "Romanza Andaloza" (Sarasate). Gates is a phenomenal violinist, who has recently returned from an eastern concert tour. He has studied with Mussin and Leopold Auer. Though but a young boy, he has an international reputation, for he has played since he was three years of age, in public concerts.

When he was nine he composed "Legende," which has been acclaimed a very wonderful bit of art. He was last heard in California when he played at the Hollywood Bowl in honor of Will Hays.

Charles King will sing a group of three songs: (a) "Until," (b) "Song My Mother Taught Me" (Dvorak), (c) "Aria" (Leoncavallo).

Nicholas Devereux, pianist, a pupil of Godowsky, will play "Lorely" (Seeling) and "Egeria" (Kroeger).

Mrs. Sparrow will play "Hark, Hark, the Lark" (Schubert-Liszt), "Prelude C Sharp Minor" (Rachmaninoff).

Vern Isom will play (a) "Elegie" (Massenet), (b) "Minuet" (Bach), (c) "Hungarian Dance" (Brahms).

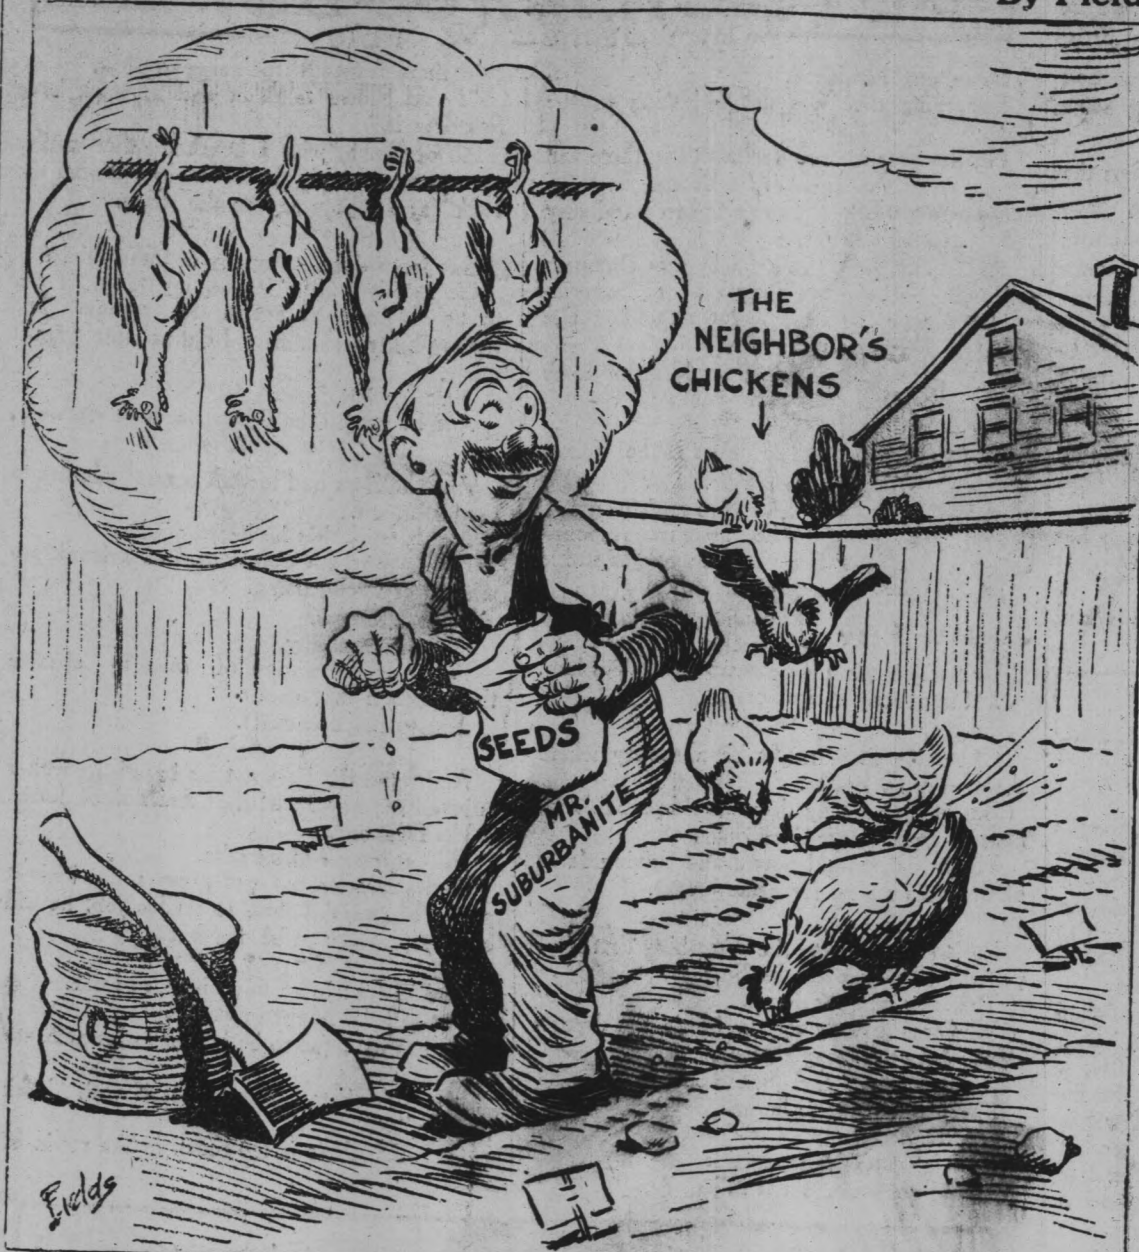

Mrs. Kirkpatrick will sing one or two numbers from the list of 50 selections studied by the pupils in the contest.

Mrs. Sparrow is a pupil of Sylvio Seintr of the American Conservatory of Music of Chicago, of Giuseppe Ferreri of New Orleans and of Olga Steeb of Los Angeles. Mrs. Sparrow will be an associate teacher in the Olga Steeb School of Music, which is to open in Los Angeles next September. She is well known in Chicago and New Orleans, where she has done much concert work.

Vern Isom, though very young, has established a reputation for his fine violin playing. Mrs. Kirkpatrick, a student of Edith Ford Pia, is another Burbank musician whom every one desires to hear when she sings on a program.

The entire evening will be an outstanding treat to all friends of music.

BURBANK BAPTISTS DEDICATE $10,000 STRUCTURE WITH SOLEMN CEREMONY

Church Holds First Service in the New Edifice on Mother's Day; Will Have Dedication Worship Throughout the Week

"We, the people of this church and congregation, now consecrating ourselves anew, dedicate this entire building in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, Amen." Thus closed the dedication worship of the Baptists Sunday morning when they held the first service in the new church building.

With solemn ceremony and hearts full of thankfulness the church began its week of dedication services. Special music and special speakers will mark the beginning of the second step in the forward progress of the church.

There are several outstanding features of this small church, some of which were spoken of by the pastor, Rev. E. A. Main, Sunday morning. One of the facts, which pastor and people boast of, is that the $10,000 church, already nearly paid for, was not purchased through church supports, rummage sales or bazaars.

In speaking of this Rev. Main said, "The church is not a banking house, but it is made for a medium to flow through. Burbank Baptists do not believe in commercializing the house of God."

Another fact that the pastor mentioned is that old and young, small children, young women and men and elderly people of Burbank have declared that they were responsible for the establishing of the church, which began only a year ago with 23 members, meeting at the Atherton Villa.

The church is beautiful in its simplicity. The interior is furnished in browns and buff. Lights are concealed in oaken lodges on the side walls. Plenty of sunlight and fresh air are provided through many amber colored windows. It will seat nearly three hundred.

Dark, olive green velvet draperies hanging from an arched recess directly back of the minister's pulpit are to be drawn back for baptismal services in the baptistry. Plenty of Sunday school rooms, with blackboards on the removable walls, will supply the needs of the children for some time to come.

A modern kitchen so that fellowship suppers and friendly gatherings can be given, is at the back of the church. The pastor's study, lined with built-in book cases, is light and airy. It is the most complete and artistic church building of its size, in Southern California, the members claim.

Money for the payment on the church came from all over the state. Norris Knaus of Glendale, chosen by the members to be the architect of the church, gave his time and his plans and his commission.

At the services Sunday, Glendale people, Los Angeles, Whittier and Long Beach Baptists were present. Old friends of Rev. and Mrs. Main from their former church at Whittier and St. Louis, Mo., were present.

The dedication sermon was preached by Dr. James S. Homes of Los Angeles. He made a strong plea for loyalty to the church and wholehearted consecration in a sermon full of wit and humor which emphasized his earnestness. "A menace to American history and to the life of America is the person who does not line up with the church," he declared.

The soloists for the morning were Mrs. C. B. Fitzsimmons, who sang "Sweet Little Mother O' Mine," and Mr. Christopher, of Hollywood, who sang "Open the Gates of the Temple." The choir's special anthem was "Except the Lord Build the House."

MYSTIC SMILE T PLAN FOR FIRST CONVENTION

Burbank Will Entertain State Meeting in July

Initiation of the new clubroom by the Mystic Smile will take place this evening when the order initiates five new members. The Smilers will have headquarters at the Thompson building, corner of the boulevard and Orange Grove avenue. The meeting tonight will be the first one held in the room. Glen Oden, Charles Kendig, Ra Becker, Charles Watkins and Earl Cordery will be taken in as members. This will bring the membership up to about forty.

Plans will be made this evening for the first annual convention which is to be held here in Burbank in July. This will also be the first anniversary of the order as it was started in July, 1922.

PREPARING FOR CROPS
RENO, NEV.—Refrigerator cars destined for California points, to handle the cantaloupe crop, as well as asparagus and other fruit and vegetables from the Imperial Valley, California, are passing through here. It is stated that several thousand refrigerator cars will reach their destination in time for the crop movement.

ZION WANTS HARDING
SALT LAKE CITY.—President Harding is being urged by United States Senator Reed Smoot of Utah to visit Zion National park in this state on his proposed western trip this fall.

CHORAL CLUB GIVES MOTHERS' DAY PROGRAM

The Burbank Choral club's first out-of-door Mothers' Day Sunday afternoon concert was one of the most notable of Burbank celebrations. The entire town gathered early on the green terrace of the Edison building to hear the community singers.

The club gave a delightful program that was thoroughly enjoyed by the attentive audience. The five numbers, all of different types of selections, were tremendously effective. Never in all its three years' history has the skillful blending of the voices of the club been more noticeably harmonious.

"Hail Smiling Morn" (Spotlight Leslie), "Sunset Trail" (Cadman) with Dr. David Thompson as soloist, "Nightfall in Granada" (Bustino), "A Hundred Years from Now" (Bond) and "Home, Sweet Home" (Payne) were the numbers sung by the club.

"An Old-Fashioned Dear" (Ellis), sung for the first time by the Double Quartet with Cecil Osik Ellis, composer, at the piano, was composed for the occasion. It had a joyous, swinging rhythm that will make it a favorite with every audience.

One of the soloists for the afternoon was Josef Rosenfeld, violinist of the Philharmonic orchestra of Los Angeles. He was called back for two encores so thoroughly did the audience appreciate his playing. His numbers were "Largo" (Handel), "The Gypsy Love Song" (Dvorak) and "Meditation" from Thais.

Charles Leroy Munro, conductor of the club, sang "Mother O' Mine" and was compelled to give an encore.

The afternoon was one that will be a glad memory for all and one that the public will want repeated every year.

WHAT IS MOST IMPORTANT SERVICE TO ANY PEOPLE NEXT TO PROTECTION?

Such Questions on the National Government Will Be Studied and Discussed at June Meetings of Current Events Club Section

How many of the following questions can you answer?

The questions are to be answered by the Current Events section of the Burbank Woman's club, in the June meetings. The members plan to get in many study hours before the closing of the club year and its adjournment until next fall. The meeting this coming Saturday will be about state affairs, and Burlingame Johnson of the state legislature is expected to be present.

The members expect to be able to answer the following questions after they have studied the book, "Bird's American Government," which has been placed in the library.

In addition to keeping posted on citizenship, the section is interested in tree planting and will study the "School Book of Forestry" and "Trees as Good Citizens."

The questions have been sent out to each member by the chairman of the department, Mrs. Margaret Yale, and are as follows:

How does the home affect society, the school and nation? Constitution of the United States The Preamble to the Constitution of the United States names six purposes for which the Constitution was made.

Name these in the order of their importance. What part of the revenue or income of this country is used "to provide for the common defense?" What part of said income is used "to promote the general welfare?"

How is the term Congressman used? How many has California? How is the number determined?

What are the qualifications of a congressman?

Could you suggest any additions to these requirements? Who is your representative or congressman?

What has he done since his election? When does a representative take his seat in congress after his election?

Can this long wait be remedied? Why do districts the state after a national census?

Has California been re-districted since the census? If not, why not? What is the salary of a congressman?

Is this sufficient? How many representatives has California?

Cabinet Who appoints the cabinet? Who determines the departments or bureaus of each secretary?

What is the most important service to any people next to protection?

Federal Courts How many judges constitute the supreme court of the United States?

Why did the court declare the child labor law unconstitutional? Finance

What is the indebtedness of the country today? Whom does this nation owe? How much is due us from other nations?

Should we expect this payment in total, or in part, or not at all? Treaties

What is meant by "a most favored nation clause to a treaty?" Do treaties rank with the constitution as the "supreme law of the land?" Query: What do other nations think of us?

MINISTERS ENTER THE CONTROVERSY OVER NEW AND OLD CITY MARSHAL

Pledge Themselves to Support the Board of Trustees and Stand for Enforcement of Laws and Protection of the Young Ministers yesterday joined in the controversy in Burbank since the former city marshal George Cole was ousted from the position and John Long put in his place. Sunday the ministers of Burbank read the following notice from their pulpits:

"To the Honorable board of Trustees of the city of Burbank: The Ministers of the city of Burbank met on Saturday, May 12, 1923, to consider the status of law enforcement in our city. It was the unanimous conviction of the ministers that we resent any movement that would seek to undermine the influence of our city board of trustees in its efforts toward law enforcement for the protection of our homes. And that we hereby pledge the said board of trustees our hearty support in any effort they may make for the enforcement of our laws and the safeguarding of our boys and girls."

A copy of this action was ordered sent to the board of trustees and city papers. It was likewise ordered presented to the respective church at their Sunday services May 13.

CONTEST BOOKS CALLED IN ON WEDNESDAY

Music Memory Contestants Must Give Books to Miss Freyburger

All contestants in the Daily Press Music Memory Contest must have their notebooks in not later than 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The books are to be given to Miss Vera Freyburger, who will give them to the judges. Books may be handed in any time before Wednesday, but 3 o'clock that afternoon is the time limit for receiving them.

With the handing in of these books the judges will know the exact number of children in the John Muir building who can qualify for the final examination in recognizing the selections studied the past eight weeks. If one clipping is missing, it does not disqualify any one from the contest.

Neatness, completeness and originality will count in the marking, but the fact that every clipping is not in will not keep a pupil out from the contest. This fact has not been understood, so the teachers have found it necessary to repeat several times the fact that one missing clipping does not keep any one out.

Truths in Epigram

Well is it known that ambition can creep as well as soar.—Burke.

Too low they build who build beneath the stars.—Young.

Ambition is the only power that combats love.—Cibber.

I take but small account of noble birth; for me the virtuous is the noble man.—Euripides.

ABUSE OF POWER

One of the great blessings of a democracy is that the abuse of power by any individual placed in authority, speedily results in his displacement. The mental attitude of Americans is instinctively opposed to anything savoring of a dictatorship.

The teaching of history points to the conclusion that no man is fitted to rule his fellows absolutely. It has been tried and failed. The day is long past when the king could say "Off with his head!" and thereby close the incident.

In smaller affairs there has been repeated demonstration that the individual who undertakes to shape the destinies of the mass, not only has encountered a problem too great for him, but that ultimately is to be solved by his elimination. This is illustrated by the "labor leader" who calls men from work at which they may be getting good wages, and condemns them to idleness while he negotiates with the other side with a view to his personal welfare rather than with the idea of vindicating a principle.

There is another illustration in conditions in Florida convict camps, or whatever the abominable places in which unfortunates are worked to death or beaten to death, may be called. The sheriff gets a fee for arresting. The court gets a fee for condemning. These are official perquisites. Doubtless the slavers who get the services of the victims make the transactions even more worth while. The slavers get the advantage of practically free labor, with the privilege of killing the unwilling or incompetent.

The whole sentiment of the country is horrified at the revelation. This proves that at heart the people are all right. Nevertheless, individuals given too much power had proceeded to abuse it. Doubtless sheriff and judge pass as respectable citizens. They had been entrusted with an authority they were not qualified to wield. Public officials from presidents to constables need to be watched. It is the business of every citizen to watch them, to curb them, to take their authority away when they have been proved unfaithful or inefficient.

DEALING WITH THE DESPERATE

County jail authorities have been startled again at the discovery of a plot on the part of a number of the more desperate inmates to break out. The plan seems to have involved the murder of as many guards as happened to be in the way. It also was to have included the liberation of all prisoners, turning loose in the community a pack more dangerous than an equal number of wild beasts. The correspondence of the schemers reveals that members of the underworld were to stage an attack on the jail from the outside. In fact, there had been a definite scheme to precipitate a fierce and murderous battle.

This project shows that the criminal mind is not normal. The scheme was utterly illogical. There could have been small probability of ultimate escape for any of the participants. Many of them would have been killed, and those charged with previous grave offenses would have been regarded as having proclaimed their guilt. Nevertheless the criminal mind operates with singular cunning. Often it seems endowed with reckless courage, which arises from the realization that the cornered felon has nothing to lose.

From time to time something is said as to treating the criminal, not as a criminal but as a mental unfortunates, really needing treatment as an invalid. Then comes an episode such as this to show that the kindly impulse, even if warrantable in part, is likely to be too broadly comprehensive. When it takes in men who are murderous from choice, and who desire to kill all who interfere with them in the plying of their vocation, then it is too comprehensive. According to the statutes, some of the men engaged in the exposed plot deserve to be hanged, and ought to be hanged speedily. In no other way may society be safe from them. The others belong in a prison more secure as a place of detention than the obsolete county jail. As for coddling them, it is entirely outside the question. As well coddle a nest of cobras.

WONDERS OF RADIO

People get so accustomed to the marvelous that they accept it without special thought of the wonder of it. Thus they enjoy the radio, their minds upon the product of the mysterious mechanism rather than upon the mystery.

The air is charged with the potentiality of sounds. Human voices raised in song or prayer, the sobbing of grief, the scream of pain; the friendly message, and yet, save for a magic touch, these are lost in the void, borne silently until contact with certain wavelengths gives them a medium. Then instantly they become audible, voices wooed out of space, and are disseminated far and wide. They leap the mountains and cross the seas. Paris, the medium having been discovered, is to talk to the cities of the Pacific coast. All this the scientist may explain; does, in a fashion explain, but to the layman it appears a continuous and highly marvellous performance.

The radio apparatus may be in a closed room. No wire leads to the outside. There is a spider-web contrivance of wires, possibly a dozen strands in width. It is held erect by a standard. That is all the observer sees, for there is nothing more to see, save the delicate apparatus within the box. Yet these wires catch the melody of a violin as the instrument is being played perhaps hundreds of miles away. They bring the full volume of an orchestra, maybe a sermon, a lecture, a complete concert. All this it may be being broadcasted from Los Angeles. A slight change in the wave-length, and the connection is with San Francisco, Portland, Chicago, or some outlying station unknown.

Surely the effect of an agency that thus brings the people of the nation into instant and intimate touch must be greater than that of furnishing them amusement. It must tend to draw them into closer relationship. And it may be supposed that nation will be bound to nation by invisible cords, light-waves, tenuous but mighty, flinging messages from continent to continent, defying distance, and annihilating space as measured either in minutes or in miles.

One of the worst stings of defeat is the sympathy that goes with it.

A widow says good husbands are like dough because women need them.

Some people are known by their intentions and others by their works.

ON REJUVENATION

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINSEY

If you can't be funny, don't try. That is what I was moved to advise a woman writer whose silly comments on the Steinhach rejuvenation process I have just read.

The lady is coy, intensely sex conscious and superficial, all of which she has sought to disguise by attempting to be funny.

She alludes to Gertrude Atherton's novel "Black Oxen" as a book to be spoken of softly, in whispers; in fact, eggs the imagination along with a few giggles and then—oh so modest, finds she hasn't room to explain.

Hinting that it is immoral or at least immodest for women to desire youthful bodies, she says they will seek the rejuvenation process because it "helps the mind."

Bosh. If it helps the mind, well and good; the world will not suffer because of a few more vigorous minds. But why should any woman apologize for desiring to keep a body that is youthful, beautiful and capable? To do so, is to admit that there is something immodest about such a wish.

All right; here is where I dive into the ranks of the immodest. I want a body that is youthful and beautiful and I want it as long as I stay on earth, be that 30 or 90 years. I hate wrinkles, I loathe stiff joints, I detest glasses—and wear them reluctantly. I like men and enjoy honest, clean companionship with them. I want to move and work and dance and laugh.

Moreover, I can not see that having a young body and an old—or experienced—mind—would be a misfortune. Any woman should know that mating belongs to those of the same generation, and I do not think that I'd want to marry a man of 30 if I were 60 and had been rejuvenated into beauty.

But because I do not wish to marry a man young enough to be my son is no reason I should hug ugliness, decay and senility.

Suppose that the Steinhach rejuvenation process succeeds in making active and strong numbers of people who are now old and stiff? The result is that the really young will be relieved of a terrible burden and those old in years and experience will, through the rejuvenation process, be able to utilize past experience for the good of the race.

The trouble with the people who are giggling behind fans over Steinhach's work is that they know that vigor in the sex-glands means vigor all through the body and they still believe sex is indecent. They are unable to conceive of sex vigor being turned to impersonal channels, devoted to the service of society, given out through art, music, oratory or other kinds of artistic endeavor.

Rejuvenated people do not have children; if they did I'd be in favor of shooting Steinhach at sunrise and having his body burned by the common hangman. Let the young give children to the world, but for the love of health and service let the old renew their looks and their strength. And quit giggling about it.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

LETTERS FROM READERS (Find the error in this article.)

"Try and Open"

C. E. Anderson: "Am interested in the lessons in grammar that appear in your column, and, thinking along those lines, I quite often notice errors in some of the leading city papers. Isn't the following a violation of what we consider good grammar: 'The British ambassador in Berlin has advised Berlin to try and open negotiations.'"

Answer: The correct locution is "try to open." Consistency.

Anna L. Conway: "Will you be kind enough to advise me whether themselves or itself is correct in the following sentence: 'These prints will explain themselves (or itself)?' Also, what is the difference in meaning between the words should, would, and shall?"

Answer: "Themselves is the right word. Prints is plural. Still another way of expressing the thought is, 'These prints are self-explanatory.' The proper uses of shall, will, should, and would cannot be discussed in the brief space allotted to the answering of a query. The problem has appeared in 'The Right Word' many times in the past, and will appear often in the future. Watch for it. You should not use the word between, when you are referring to three or more objects. Your sentence, when corrected, might read as follows: 'Also, what is the difference in the meaning of the words should, would, shall, and will?'

Vocabulary. Have you ever heard of pidgin-English? The expression has nothing to do with pigeons. The word pidgin is the Chinese pronunciation of business, the expression pidgin-English being, therefore, the jargon of English intermixed with Chinese, Portuguese, and Malay words, expressed in Chinese idiom, and used in Chinese and other commercial cities of the Far East in the ordinary intercourse of natives and foreigners.

Queries. Miss Marie F. Klatt: "Which is the right word, takes or take, in the following sentence: 'If either ourselves or the comptroller takes (take) exception...'"

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Something happened. Something that was not pleasing to the Boss. For however we may feel about it, there will always be Bosses.

That is the free and easy term. We might say Directors or Managers or Superintendents or something like that.

But it would mean much the same thing. The Boss is the fellow who directs.

Who hires and fires. Who assumes responsibility and discharges it one way or the other. He takes the measure of the job and does it.

Or the job takes his measure and does him. But somebody has to boss.

Of course there might be a society where there were no Bosses. But in that society there would probably be little of constructive work done.

The initiative and power and driving force of the Boss makes for achievement.

But to get back to the something that happened that displeased the Boss.

The Boss sent for Jones. Who was directly responsible in the department where the thing happened.

And the Boss asked Jones about it. For Jones ought to know.

And Jones might have said: "I did not know about it."

"I thought Smith was going to do it."

"I told Brown to do it and he must have forgotten it."

All of which, with a hundred other similar excuses would be in the nature of "passing the buck" as the boys say on the street.

But Jones did not say any of these things. He merely said: "It was my fault. I am to be blamed. I am in the wrong. The responsibility was mine. I did not discharge it fairly."

That is what Jones said. And he waited the Boss's words of reproof.

And the Boss had to wait several minutes to get his breath.

And be sure that he heard aright. For he was not accustomed to a frank admission of wrong doing.

Or carelessness. Or irresponsibility. For it is the nature of men to absolve themselves if they can.

And to make excuses.

And when the Boss got his breath he rather enjoyed the novelty of the admission of Jones. His frankness.

His confession of mistake. And while he did not express the highest praise of Jones' failure to do his job, he did express pleasure at his frankness.

And he told Jones to go back to work. Not to let it happen again.

And to continue to be honest in his measure of himself.

Not to seek to absolve himself with "buck passing."

Of which there is too much in the world of work.

Requiescat—By Oscar Wilde

Tread lightly, she is near, Under the snow; Speak gently, she can hear The daisies grow.

All her bright golden hair Tarnished with rust, She that was young and fair Fallen to dust.

Lily-like, white as snow, She hardly knew

She was a woman, so Sweetly she grew.

Coffin-board, heavy stone, Lie on her breast; I vex my heart alone, She is at rest.

Peace, peace; she cannot hear Lyre or sonnet; All my life's buried here—Heap earth upon it.

KORZNNIOWSKI

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THIS is the remarkable story of Mr. Korzeniowski.

It is the story of a boy born in Poland in 1857, who could not speak a word of English in 1878, when he first set foot on English soil, and who became one of the masters of English literature.

There are other dramatic features in Korzeniowski's career. One is that, although he was born in Ukraine, one of the southern provinces of old Poland, and during his childhood lived far inland, he was smitten with a love of the sea.

He wanted to be a sailor and he became one. When he was a boy he read many books in Polish and found in literature a refuge from the depressing conditions that surrounded his life.

At ten, he had read widely in Victor Hugo, Dickens, Scott, Thackeray, history, novels, and voyages, in Polish translations. Both literature and the sea were his dreams of escape, and they both came true.

At the age of nine, looking at a map of Africa, he put his finger on the blank space, which, at that time, represented the mysterious unexplored heart of the continent and said, "When I grow up I shall go there." Over twenty years later he did.

When he got there he contracted a fever, which sent him back to live a sedentary life, and he became a great novelist.

As a boy he loved to tell stories. He dreamed them and told them to his friends. Most of his stories were of ships and far away countries which he had never seen.

When he was an English seaman, he resolved, although he did not know a word of English at the time, to learn the language.

In 1874 he first laid his hand against the side of an English ship, a big high-class cargo steamer by the name of "James Westcott."

Then he first heard the English language. It was snapped out at him by an immense, bearded, double-chinned "porpoise" on the deck above. "Look out there!" Three years later he first landed in England and began to study the language.

He became an English seaman and sailed to many parts of the earth. He encircled the globe and explored strange places. He had all sorts of dangers, adventures, and plenty of hard work.

His first book was published in England in 1895 and created little sensation. In 1896, Korzeniowski was married and went to live in Kent, England, where he has resided in comparative seclusion ever since. Here he worked hard and produced many volumes.

From 1895 to 1903 his books and stories were presented to a rather indifferent public. It was not until 1914 that at last the world broke into applause. He had mastered the sea. He is now considered one of the greatest of modern writers. If he has never read any of his books you have missed a great deal.

I have called him Korzeniowski, for he was christened Teodor Joseph Konrad Korzeniowski. He is better known as Joseph Conrad. (Copyright, 1923, by Dr. Frank Crane)

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

A few days ago Dr. Crane presented on this page a poem by Marjorie Stoneman Douglas. The ballad had appeared originally in the New York World. Now, although a great many people read all that Dr. Crane writes, the chance that some may have missed it impels its reproduction, and here is the ballad again:

Martin Tabert of North Dakota is walking Florida now. O children, hark to his footsteps coming, for he's walking soft and slow.

Through the piney wood and the cypress hollows A wind creeps up and it's him it follows— Martin Tabert of North Dakota, walking Florida now.

They nailed his coffin boards together and he's walking Florida now. O children, the dark night saw where they buried him, buried him, buried him low.

The tall pines heard when they went to hide him And the wind crept up to moan beside him, Martin Tabert of North Dakota. And he's walking Florida now.

One element that tends to make this ballad poignant is that it bears witness to the truth.

Martin Tabert had stolen a ride on the railroad. A young man, probably without means, and not very strong, he had gone from the harsh clime of his own state, to the more suave conditions of the south. He stole a ride. So the sheriff caught him, and he was sent to a convict camp to be killed.

Stealing a ride is not properly to be regarded as a capital offense. As a matter of fact, measured by the moral scale, it is a small offense. The time to talk about a wrong is while circumstances have aroused interest in it. Therefore extended mention of this horrid Florida business is permissible now.

On the witness stand the man who had flogged Tabert to death swore that he had struck ten or eleven moderate blows. Witnesses swear that he struck more than fifty, and perhaps a hundred, and that as he swung the lash, his foot was on the neck of the prostrate prisoner. And after all, decent burial was denied the victim.

That is what a Florida paper has to say about the affair. The crime should be treated as murder and the convict slave system wiped out.

There is the usual talk about elevating Tia Juana to a new and quite proper standard.

Perhaps this can be done, but after completion of the process there wouldn't be anything left of the place that even the curious tourist could wish to see.

Federal Judge Mayer of New York has decided that the government is without right to interfere with sugar speculation.

There really is something curious about the government's standing. It was organized in the first place in the interests of the whole people, rather than of any little bunch. One of the agencies through which the government functions is the courts, created as in a sense subordinate to the creator. Nevertheless the courts never hesitate to tell the government where to get off, or where to head in, or whatever is the proper descriptive term.

Sadie Martinot might have been dead years ago for anything the people knew who some thirty years back were under the spell of her acting. She lived gaily then, and crowded much into each of the fleeting seasons.

She had passed from sight, almost from memory, when her death was announced. Poor and forgotten, the laughter long over, the end found her a pauper, and charity laid her to rest.

Recently some citizens of Texas, following a custom greatly esteemed there took a man out one night and flogged him. The man, being a stranger, ill advised as to local habits, was pained, surprised and indignant. He incited an effort to have the aggressors punished. So far three have been fined and sent to jail for contempt for refusal to answer questions.

Doubtless is a record of answering questions is much dreaded by the person having guilty knowledge of a case. Usually he can evade the necessity of replying, by saying that an answer would incriminate him. Of course this is a confession of his own guilt, but at the same time, saves his bacon. He may appear in court later with his precious and often ridiculous "presumption of innocence" unimpaired.

A man in jail charged with serious crime managed to exchange identities with a casual drunk, who still was bewildered by booties. There was a large crowd of the drunks up before the court, and all including the strictly sober crook, pleaded guilty. The judge imposed fine and imprisonment, and at once suspended the sentences, meaning that there was no penalty. Perhaps, so far as the genuine soaks were concerned, the headache was punishment enough.

Looked at without prejudice it must be conceded that the crook, now enjoying the sweets of liberty, put one over, as the saying is.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

You've heard of playing one-hundred-to-one chances and winning. Well, I did it the other day. And if I had had my rights I would have accumulated a pair of lovely black eyes. Because I came between a man and his wife.

You cannot often do that successfully. One of my early recollections is that of Stage Driver Ed Martin, who drove into the small western town which I was then adorning with my juvenile presence, a complete wreck. He had found a neighbor beating his wife and had tried to protect the lady. They jointly pointed his error out to him. Knowing my folly, I nevertheless took cards in the Halseys' domestic game.

"You're not getting along very well at home are you, Tommy?" I asked.

I've known Tommy since the first day his clothes were tied in knots at the swimming hole. His face flushed and clouded and he nodded.

"She's queer, somehow," said he, in a low tone. "I don't know what's come over her—"

So I told him.

"Pay a little attention to her," says I, the wise man of the village. "Make love to her. Kiss her and caress her and find out what she would like to do and where she would like to go and bring home a new book and a box of candy now and then and say to her:—"

"Why in the name of Mud haven't you got a new dress? You're the prettiest woman on this street and there's no sense in your wearing clothes that do you a grave wrong."

For they love each other dearly. I knew that. Any one could see that who watched them. Yet they have grown voiceless and unresponsive. They have permitted marriage to become a commonplace instead of a great adventure. Mary thinks she is just a cook and housekeeper and he has been thinking that she looks on him as a mere meal-ticket. It was a mighty piece of impertinence on my part. But Tommy took it right.

Mary's eyes shone like diamonds when I met her today.

ANOTHER GREAT COLORED ATHLETE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 14 (United Press).—Another great colored athlete has jumped to the front in the person of Charley West, the Washington and Jefferson football and track star, who won the pentathlon at the Pennsylvania relays, the classic event of all college track and field sports.

West, rattered along the lines of a statue, assumed the position as perhaps the best all-around athlete in the country, because he won the pentathlon from a field that represented the best material of the country, headed by Norton, the all-around champion of the Missouri Valley conference and the best in the east.

The pentathlon is an exacting event, which calls for the utmost in endurance, skill and versatility, and it has only one more severe—the seldom tried decathlon.

The pentathlon consists of five events, the broad jump, the discus throw, the javelin throw, the 200-meter run and the 1,500-meter run, all run off one after the other. The decathlon consists of ten events—the 100-meter run, the running broad jump, the 16-pound shot put, the running high jump, the 400-meter run, 110-yard hurdles, discus throw, pole vault, javelin throw and the 1,500-meter run.

West won the javelin throw, the 1,500-meter run, was tied for first in the 200-meter dash, finished fourth in the broad jump and did not place in the discus.

His marks compared very favorably with those of the Finn star, Lehtonen, who won the pentathlon at the last Olympic games.

Lehtonen finished second in the broad jump with 21 feet 9 inches; West was third with a jump of 20 feet 9 inches.

In the javelin throw, an event in which the Finns are as adept as Americans in baseball, Lehtonen was second with a toss of 179 feet, 4-8 inches; West won the event at 167 feet 6-1/2 inches.

Lehtonen was tied for first in the 200-meter run at 23 seconds; West was tied for first at 23-5 seconds.

The Finn was second in the 1,500-meter run and was tied at 4:40-1-5; West won the 1,500-meter race in 4:48-2-5.

Lehtonen finished seventh in the discus throw with a mark of 113 feet 7-3/4 inches; West did not place.

Lehtonen won the championship with a total of 14 points; West's winning was 16 points.

On following afternoon, West appeared on the track again with the Washington and Jefferson mile relay team and he won a great anchor quarter that won Middle Atlantic States class B one-mile championship in 3:32.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

DEEDS

Words mean a lot when they're friendly and kind. Go a long way with right meaning behind: Precept is helpful and serves mighty well. Better sometimes than we think or can tell. Pat on the back good as far as it goes. Lift you and hold you right up on your toes. But if you would serve the old world and its needs, Always remember there's nothing like deeds.

It's a needy old world, when it's seen at its best: Hungry folks, lonesome folks, sick and distressed: Poor folks and sad folks and idle folks, too. Wanting some job, so there's plenty to do. Counsel is wise and advice does its share, Cheer has its mission, but nothing is fair As a lift or a job or a gift for the needs Of folks who are hungry—there's nothing like deeds.

Texts have their places and preachments are wise, Comfort for sad hearts and tear-filling eyes: Kind words are useful, so give and to spare— Not quite enough in the world anywhere. But go the rough pathway and out of your way To bring some good gift to the needy today, For real friendship knows what the truth is and needs: In trial and trouble there's nothing like deeds.

lantic States class B one-mile championship in 3:32. As a football player, West was not only a great backfield star for Washington and Jefferson, but he was one of the best in the east and was mentioned on several all-American teams.

NATIONAL PARKS TOURIST MECCA

[By Associated Press]

OGDEN, Utah, May 12.—More people visited the national forests in the intermountain states last year than ever before and as a result there was a marked increase in the number of fires, according to R. H. Rutledge, chief of the local forest service office. Stationing of additional fire guards is a move that Mr. Rutledge has under consideration. He estimated that upward of 300,000 persons visited the forests during 1922 and said he expected that number to be greatly increased this summer as more people are taking advantage of opportunities to camp, fish and hunt on the forest reserves.
